"PAY AS YOU GO!"

This homely old adage which our grand mothers have never failed to impress on the minds of young men and maidens about, to enter the threshold of active life, as well as the accompanying admonition to "pay up something for a rainy day," are, unfortunately, too little heeded. The men of wealth are generally those who have practised these admonitions, and saved their early earnings as the foundation of their future gains. Those who keep running accounts with their tailor, shoemaker and grocer are astonished at the size of their bills when pay-day comes, having kept no record of their daily expenditures. They get behind hand and keep up their running accounts until they become hopelessly involved, and unless some streak of good fortune come to them, grope on through life, dodging their creditors, and striving how they can succeed in opening new accounts with those who are not aware of their untrustworthiness. Many young men get married and borrow money to go on a wedding tour, and even owe their tailors for the clothes in which they stand up before the altar. They start in life weighed down by debt, and are so hopelessly involved that, with the increasing expenses of married life, there is no chance of their ever recuperating. Whether it is recklessness or insanity matters not, the result is the same—a life of hopeless poverty. They attribute all their troubles to "bad luck," and point to the prudent and prosperous as the favorites of fortune, who are attended by "good luck" in all their ventures. Having failed to heed the admonitions, "Pay as you go!" they should attribute their failure in life to folly and stupidity, if not to something akin to criminal dishonesty.

The man who runs in debt without any hope or expectation of ever being able to pay, is no better than a common swindler. He swears another man's goods, but keeps within the pale of the law. The thief runs the risk of punishment, and in appropriating to his own use the goods of another, takes with it the responsibility of detection. To that extent he is more to be respected than those who steal by this indirect system of "living beyond their means." The paucity of the past year has done much to check the "credit system," and it is to be hoped with the return of good times the reins will be kept tighter than has been the case heretofore. Merchants do not let their goods go as recklessly as they formerly did, and must know something of the character of a customer before they allow him to purchase upon credit.
If the retail dealer would be more careful in giving credit, except to those who are known to pay upon demand, he would be able to sell his goods cheaper to his prompt paying customers. Those who "pay as they go" have to make up to the dealer for the losses sustained by indiscriminate credit, and they find it to their advantage to deal with those who keep these reckless credit-seekers at a respectable distance.

The good results flowing from the largest liberty given to commercial agents, or "drummers," which some of our merchants so strenuously opposed a few years since, are now generally admitted. It has enabled the buyer and seller to enter into closer intimacy, and to enable the merchant to know the exact standing and responsibility of his customers. He no longer gives credit and sends his goods to people whom he knows nothing about; a part of the "drummer's" business being to ascertain, in his travels, whose credit is good, and who those are who formerly only came to Baltimore to purchase goods when their credit was gone in other cities. The first effect has been to limit the amount of sales, but it has also diminished bad debts to such an extent that in most lines of business the profits of the past year have been greater than those when a much larger amount of goods went into consumption. During the year just commenced it should be the constant effort of every man who has goods or wares to sell to have as few bad debts on his ledger at the close of the year as possible. By so doing he will be meeting out justice to those who "pay as they go"—justice to himself and his creditors—and will help to attract to the city a larger and better trade by the lower prices at which he will be enabled to dispose of his goods.—Balt. American.

THE NEW NEWSPAPER POSTAGE LAW went into effect on the 1st, and the new stamps were affixed to all newspaper mail matter sent out. The stamps are of various colors, but all have a representation of the Goddess of Liberty from the statue on the dome of the Capitol.
They are of denominations of from two cents to sixty dollars. The former rule from the Postmaster General will interest subscribers whose paper will go through free: "Newspapers (without regard to frequency of issue) one copy to each subscriber actually for the time being residing in the country where the same are printed, in whole or in part, and published, be entitled to pass free through the mails, but that rate of postage on the same when sent through the mails to a carrier office for delivery by the office or its carriers, shall be subject to a postage of two cents per pound, to be prepaid by special mailing stamps." The stamp is not affixed to the mail matter, but to a receipt given by the publisher when his matter is weighed, and a cancelling stamp is put upon the duplicate of the receipt kept by the postmaster.

TAXES.—Somebody has figured out the interesting fact that the total amount of State, county, city and town taxes collected in the United States in 1870 was $280,591,000, which was about $7 a head for the entire population.
The total amount of these taxes collected in 1860 was $94,186,000, which was about $3 a head for the entire population. It cost, therefore, more than twice as much to take care of a man in his State, county and municipal relations in 1870 as it did ten years before. This does not include the federal taxation. The net ordinary expenses of the federal government in 1870 were $164,421,000, which was $4.39 a head for the entire population. In 1860 they were $60,000,000, which was $1.94 a head. In 1850 they were $37,165,000, which was $1.60 a head. In 1840 they were $24,130,- 000, which was $1.40 a head. It will be seen that while there was an increase of fifty-four cents in the per capita cost of government in 1840 to 1860, there was an increase of $2.36 in the rate in the last decade, the rate being more than doubled.

SELL THE BEST

DOLLAR CORSET

IN THE CITY.
Dress Makers recommend it as being the best Corset to fit a dress over, because it is cut in such a manner that the front and back seams fit like seams to a dress.

And it is superior to any other Corset now in use because its peculiar style of cutting gives sufficient fullness at the bosom, without folding at the top; gradually and closely fitting to, and over the hips, is longer front and back than ordinary Corsets, and in fact is the only Corset cut in this form.

In addition to the DOLLAR CORSET will be found a large assortment of other makes at the following prices—$1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.50, $3.50 and $5.
